

Uninterrupted academics at Delhi Public School, Durgapur

The world has almost come to a standstill due to the crisis caused by COVID-19 and trying to come to terms with it and social distancing is the need of the hour. At this testing times, The OmDayal Group, has taken an initiative of effectively integrating technology into teaching and learning, that too at and from home.

Delhi Public School, Durgapur has started classes through Zoom (a remote video conferencing website) online meeting app. This facility meets the academic as well as co-curricular demands available to the students of classes Nursery to class XII. The app brings in video conferencing, online meetings and group messaging together into one easy-to-use application.

Different groups have been created and the parents are constantly intimated about the schedule, topic and timings of the classes. The student only has to open the laptop or the mobile and log in to Zoom and within a few minutes, the student is in a virtual classroom with the teacher and classmates.

The school has thus, provided a platform for flexible learning and has focused on education through the intervention of technology in its widespread mechanism.
